Client Consent to Record / Video Record Sessions

Teresa Heesacker Counseling is committed to providing a counseling experience in which connection, value and encouragement foster restoration in one's sense of self and in life's most important relationships.

In order to do this well, I ask clients permission to video record sessions so that my supervisor, Tony Lai, LPC, can directly observe my work. There is strict confidentiality standards that I comply with. If you grant permission for sessions to be video recorded, you can be assured that all professional viewing of recordings will follow ethical guidelines and assure client's confidentiality except when issues of harm to self or others, suspected child abuse, and /or court orders legally require reporting or submitting of client files. All recordings are stored in a locked and confidential location. After the recording has served its purpose for either supervision or legal reasons, the recording will be either erased or destroyed.

Participation in video recording is voluntary. You can request that recording be stopped at any time. You can also request that no future recordings take place.
